ACCOMPLISHMENTS AREN'T MUCH WITHOUT FUNDING

Vincent J. "Jim" Troiola,
National Commander

AUG 23, 2023

Dear American Legion Family members and friends,

House Committee on Veterans' Affairs Ranking Member Mark Takano, D-Calif., issued a warning last February to veterans gathered at the American Legion Washington Conference: "I am worried about the fate of these accomplishments."

He was referring to more than 80 bills passed in the 117th Congress to help veterans and their families. Among them was the Sgt. 1st Class Heath Robinson Honoring Our Promise to Address Comprehensive Toxics Act of 2022 – better known as the PACT Act. The historic Legion-supported legislation, signed into law just over a year ago, opened the door to VA health care and disability benefits for some 3.5 million veterans exposed to toxic burn pits, atomic radiation, Agent Orange and other contaminants during their time in service. So far, more than 750,000 veterans have filed VA claims under the PACT Act, and the number is climbing every day.

At the time Takano spoke to Legionnaires, a new congressional session was under way, and an old familiar tune was detected in Washington. Cut the VA budget to cover fiscal deficiencies elsewhere in the federal government. A Congressional Budget Office proposal explored reducing VA funding by over 20% – just in time for the first wave of PACT Act veterans.

The American Legion's response to that proposal: Look elsewhere.

Congress did, but it was by a narrow 219-211 vote that the House of Representatives approved the 2024 Military Construction, Veterans Affairs and Related Agencies Appropriations Act on July 27 that would fully fund VA health care, benefits, programs and services for the next fiscal year. The Senate will soon review and debate provisions of the spending bill so that VA can start the new year with a real budget in hand.

If, however, the measure gets hung up and the two houses of Congress cannot agree, the bigger threat is another government shutdown – as we saw in January 2019 when the entire U.S. Coast Guard went more than 30 days without pay. The American Legion helped junior enlisted USCG personnel with children at home, by issuing over $1.1 million in Temporary Financial Assistance grants to cover necessary costs as they waited for pay while at the same time fulfilling their duties.

This is why The American Legion has fought since then for passage of legislation that would protect Coast Guard members from pay delays in the event of a government shutdown. The other branches of service are so protected because they are under the Department of Defense, while the Coast Guard is under the Department of Homeland Security.

An on-time, adequate budget for VA solves the problem, for now.

Throughout The American Legion's history, our members have fought off a federal habit of retreating from veterans during times of peace. Veterans, we have often said, in times of conflict and peace, are a long-term cost of war. A new generation of those men and women is now entering the VA system, and rightfully so, facing new and different circumstances.

The American Legion's mission, as it has been for over a century, is to make sure their needs, and those of all generations, are met with the funding necessary to fulfill them. Otherwise, hard-won legislative accomplishments won't mean much at all.

National Commander, Vincent J. "Jim" Troiola

COMMANDER'S PROJECT 2023

Department Commander Al McKay asks that each Post and Legionnaire support his goal.

Department Commander Al McKay asks that each Post and Legionnaire support his goal.

The American Legion, Department of Maine has a long history with the Maine Veterans' Cemeteries across the State. In 1960, The American Legion learned of a plan for joint State-Federal cemeteries, by State Convention in 1962 (in Old Orchard Beach), a resolution was passed attested by Department Adjutant Nathaniel Cobb. The resolution was to establish a Legion committee at the Maine Veterans Cemetery in Augusta since the burial space at Togus was closed. The Committee was tasked with finding land, deciding on building designs, placing flag poles, deciding on marker types, and working on getting legislation passed to support this massive project.

Fast forward to 2023 - A chapel that had stood at the well-established cemetery fell into disrepair and was torn down years ago. The committal building that replaced it is heavily utilized and in need of some massive structural renovations. The committal building is an essential tool needed to conduct an interment Service for our fallen comrades.

Commander McKay states "This is a very much-needed building to provide a dignified space for our veterans, their spouses, and their families. The building renovations will allow protection from the elements year-round and ensure The American Legion, continuing with their Maine Veterans Memorial Cemetery history, remains a frontrunner in honoring all veterans who enter Post Everlasting".

If you would like to support Commander McKay's project in renovating this necessary building, mail checks to:

2023 AMERICAN LEGION BASEBALL AWARDS ANNOUNCED

The American Legion
AUG 16, 2023

The 2023 American Legion Baseball awards were announced Tuesday night after the championship game of the 96th American Legion World Series.

The American Legion Baseball Big Stick Award is awarded annually to the player who compiles the highest number of total bases in regional and ALWS competition.

The 2023 American Legion Baseball Big Stick Award was shared by A.J. Evasco of Lincoln (Neb.) Post 3 and Zack Hunt of Florence (S.C.) Post 1, with 23 total bases each.

Since 1945, the American Legion Baseball program has presented an American Legion Baseball Slugger trophy to the player compiling the highest batting average during national competition; a minimum of 12 plate appearances is required in regional and ALWS competition.

The 2023 American Legion Baseball Slugger Award was shared by Zack Hunt and Brady Cook, both of Florence (S.C.) Post 1, each with a .500 batting average.

American Legion Baseball lost a dynamic leader during the 1970 season. In his memory, the National Americanism Commission established the Dr. Irvin L. (Click) Cowger RBI Memorial Award. The recipient of this annual award is the American Legion Baseball player who is credited with the most runs batted in by the official scorers at the respective regionals and ALWS.

The 2023 American Legion Baseball RBI Award goes to Damon Suriani of Brooklawn (N.J.) Post 72, with 12 RBIs.

American Legion Baseball's first graduate to be elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y., was Bob Feller. This award is presented annually to the pitcher who has the most strikeouts in regional and ALWS competition.

The 2023 American Legion Baseball Pitching Award goes to Colten McAnelly of Cheyenne (Wyo.) Post 6, with 29 strikeouts.

The James F. Daniels Jr. Sportsmanship Award is presented in memory of a long-time dedicated supporter of the American Legion Baseball program from South Carolina. This award is presented to an ALWS player who best represents teamwork, loyalty, cooperation, self-reliance, fair play and courage. The 2023 James F. Daniels Jr. Sportsmanship Award goes to A.J. Evasco of Lincoln (Neb.) Post 3.

The George W. Rulon American Legion Baseball Player of the Year award is presented annually in memory of a long-time dedicated director of the American Legion Baseball program for 25 years. The award is based on integrity, mental attitude, cooperation, citizenship, sportsmanship, scholastic aptitude and general good conduct. The recipient will attend the National Baseball Hall of Fame Classic game next year in Cooperstown, N.Y.

The 2023 George W. Rulon American Legion Baseball Player of the Year is Jacob Cyr of League City (Tex.) Post 554.

Based on players' performance and character on and off the field, the following players have been selected to the American Legion World Series All-Tournament Team:

TECHNOLOGY 101

is a resource for those who wish to learn basic skills with the powerful technology of today's world. Increased proficiency with computers and cell-phones is good both personally and professionally.

Your iPhone battery life is probably getting worse. Here's what to do.

- If your iPhone battery life seems like it's getting worse, that's because it probably is.
- The capacity of a battery deteriorates over time as it's charged daily or exposed to high temperatures.
- There's an easy way to check to see how much capacity your iPhone battery has lost.

If your iPhone battery life seems like it's getting worse, that's because it is.

There's a simple explanation. If you've owned your iPhone — or any phone — for more than a year or so and plugged it in daily, it typically begins to lose its ability to receive a full charge.

The capacity of a battery deteriorates over time, which can be due to the heat from your charger, frequent fast charging or other activities that cause your phone's temperature to increase, such as gaming, as The Wall Street Journal recently reported.

If your iPhone can't store more than 80% of a charge, it may be time to get your battery replaced. It's something you can do at an Apple Store, and it can help you get more life from your iPhone if it's otherwise in working order.

A battery replacement is free if you have AppleCare+, which costs between $3.99 and $13.49 per month depending on the iPhone model you have. If you don't have the program, then a new battery costs anywhere from about $69 to $99, depending on your iPhone model.

There's an easy way to check to see how much capacity your battery has lost. Here's what to do:

- Open Settings
- Choose Battery
- Select Battery Health & Charging

You'll see "Maximum Capacity." This is the measure of battery relative to when you first bought the phone. My iPhone 14 Pro Max from last September, for example, has a capacity of 87%. That means I can't get Apple's free battery replacement through the AppleCare+ plan that I pay for. But it explains why my battery life seems like it's gotten worse.

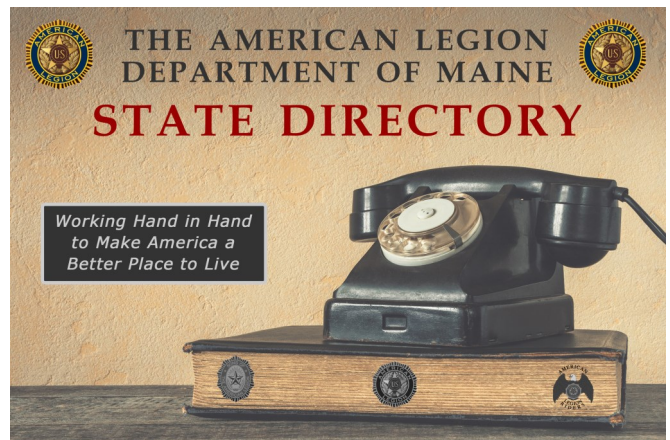

Take your phone to Apple for a replacement if your phone displays anything less than 80% capacity. It's a quick and relatively affordable way to improve your iPhone battery life, particularly if you don't otherwise need a new phone.
