National Commander Seehafer's Itinerary

Daniel J. Seehafer was elected National Commander of The American Legion at the 104th National Convention at the Charlotte Convention Center in Charlotte, N.C., on Thursday, August 31. He is continuing the theme of "Be the One," to prevent veteran suicide. To learn more about Daniel J. Seehafer, click here or visit www.legion.org

NATIONAL COMMANDER'S PIN INCENTIVE PROGRAM

American Legion National Commander Daniel J. Seehafer will award his national commander "Be the One" dog tag to any Legionnaire who obtains two new members into The American Legion. One to replace you and one for growth.

100% AMERICAN LEGION FAMILY RIBBON

American Legion National Commander Daniel J. Seehafer will award his 100% American Legion Family Ribbon to any American Legion Family that achieves 100 percent membership by the 2024 100% membership target date. For this award, the Legion Family is defined as a post and/or any combination of an Auxiliary unit or Sons squadron. Each must achieve 100% membership to qualify for the award.

103 PERCENT MEMBERSHIP AWARD

American Legion National Commander Daniel J. Seehafer will award his "Be the One" dog tag to any post commander, district commander, county commander, division commander, department commander or membership chairman who achieves 103% of their assigned membership goal for 2024.

Dear American Legion Family Members and Friends, "THEY CAME IN PEACE," are the poignant words enshrined on the Beirut Memorial, just outside Camp Lejeune, N.C. Sadly, peace was the opposite goal of the terrorist who drove an explosive-laden truck through the First Battalion, 8th Marines Headquarters building on Oct. 23, 1983. The blast took the lives of 241 Marines, soldiers and sailors. It was the single deadliest day for the Marine Corps since the Battle of Iwo Jima.

As we mark the 40th anniversary of that horrible day next week, policy analysts and historians will no doubt point to that early Sunday morning attack as an omen of what was later to become the global war on terrorism.

In the spirit of separating the war from the warrior, I wish to focus on the bravery and nobility of the servicemembers who deployed on that complex and still controversial mission in Lebanon.

Shortly after the bombing, Gen. P.X. Kelley, commandant of the Marine Corps, visited his wounded troops at a hospital in what was then West Germany. The New York Times provided a detailed report of an encounter Kelley had with Lance Cpl. Jeffrey L. Nashton, who was in critical condition and described by the general as having "more tubes going in and out of his body than I have ever seen."

Kelley said that when Nashton had heard the commandant introduce himself, "he grabbed my camouflage coat, went up to the collar and counted the stars. He squeezed my hand, and then attempted to outline words on his bedsheet. When what he was trying to write was not understood, he was given a piece of paper and pencil, and then wrote 'Semper Fi.'"

When the wounded Marine returned to the United States, Kelley presented him with the stars that he touched during the hospital visit. "They belonged to him more than to me," Kelley said.

As all Marines know, Semper Fi is shorthand for Semper Fidelis, which in Latin means "always faithful." It is the motto of the Corps.

Semper Fi is also an apt description of The American Legion's relationship with anyone who has served in our U.S. Armed Forces.

We must always "preserve the memories and incidents of our associations in all wars."

Always faithful. Semper Fi.

~ National Commander, Daniel J. Seehafer

COMMANDER'S PROJECT 2023

Department Commander Al McKay asks that each Post and Legionnaire support his goal.

The American Legion, Department of Maine has a long history with the Maine Veterans' Cemeteries across the State. In 1960, The American Legion learned of a plan for joint State-Federal cemeteries, by State Convention in 1962 (in Old Orchard Beach), a resolution was passed attested by Department Adjutant Nathaniel Cobb. The resolution was to establish a Legion committee at the Maine Veterans Cemetery in Augusta since the burial space at Togus was closed. The Committee was tasked with finding land, deciding on building designs, placing flag poles, deciding on marker types, and working on getting legislation passed to support this massive project.

Fast forward to 2023 - A chapel that had stood at the well-established cemetery fell into disrepair and was torn down years ago. The committal building that replaced it is heavily utilized and in need of some massive structural renovations. The committal building is an essential tool needed to conduct an interment Service for our fallen comrades.

Commander McKay states "This is a very much-needed building to provide a dignified space for our veterans, their spouses, and their families. The building renovations will allow protection from the elements year-round and ensure The American Legion, continuing with their Maine Veterans Memorial Cemetery history, remains a frontrunner in honoring all veterans who enter Post Everlasting".

If you would like to support Commander McKay's project in renovating this necessary building, mail checks to:

FIVE THINGS TO KNOW 10/16/23

The American Legion,
OCT. 15, 2023

1. Retired military service members and disabled veterans will see a smaller cost-of-living increase in their benefits payments in January due to slowing inflation across the United States, federal officials said. The Social Security Administration said its annual benefits increase, which occurs at the start of each year and is formally known as the cost-of-living adjustment, or COLA, will be 3.2% for 2024. The federal retirement and disability systems that pay benefits to veterans are required by law to make cost-of-living increases at the same rate.

2. Egypt's president criticized Israel's military operation in Gaza in a stern pushback Sunday to the United States as America's top diplomat extended his frenetic travels across the Mideast trying to prevent the war with Hamas from igniting a broader regional conflict. With an Israeli ground offensive looming, U.S. Secretary of State Antony Blinken reaffirmed in some of his strongest language to date that Washington would stand with Israel "today, tomorrow and every day" in a partnership of shared democratic values, but that Israel must take "every possible precaution to avoid harming civilians." He leveled no direct public criticism of Israel or its bombing campaign that has killed civilians in Gaza.

3. Within hours of the horrific attack by Hamas, the U.S. began moving warships and aircraft to the region to be ready to provide Israel with whatever it needed to respond. A second U.S. carrier strike group departs from Norfolk, Virginia, on Friday. Scores of aircraft are heading to U.S. military bases around the Middle East. Special operations forces are now assisting Israel's military in planning and intelligence. The first shipment of additional munitions has already arrived.

4. More than two-thirds of active duty service members are within the overweight or obese ranges of the body mass index, according to a report by the American Security Project. Defense Department data shows that the obesity rate, calculated using a person's age, height and weight, has more than doubled over the past decade, from 10% to roughly 21%. At the same time, more than half of young Americans now qualify as obese, and it's the no. one disqualifier for recruiting prospects.

5. A B-52H Stratofortress will make a rare landing on the Korean Peninsula this week to showcase an "ironclad commitment" to the U.S.-South Korea alliance, the U.S. military announced Monday. The Air Force bomber will also conduct a pair of flyovers during the Seoul International Aerospace and Defense Exhibition, between Tuesday and Sunday, according to a statement from U.S. Forces Korea.

Q. What form of naval communication, first used in 1867 by the Royal Navy, then extensively perfected in WWII, almost went out of use following that war, but now is being further developed by the US Naval Research center in Florida?

TECHNOLOGY 101

is a resource for those who wish to learn basic skills with the powerful technology of today's world. Increased proficiency with computers and cell-phones is good both personally and professionally.

These Old Devices are About to Lose Netflix — What You Need to Know

Netflix is one of the best streaming services out there, in no small part because you can use it on almost any streaming device. But for some people, that perk just disappeared.

First reported by What's on Netflix, people have been getting warning messages stating that, "Netflix will no longer be available on this device after October 16." These warnings were first reported by users about a month ago on forums such as Reddit, so the good news is that — provided you turned your device on and booted up Netflix recently — you hopefully had some warning that this was coming.

For the rest of us though, this was a bit of a shock. Especially me, who only uses their old Sony Playstation Vita sparingly but just found out that Netflix doesn't work on it. While I won't love my Vita any less, learning this was still a bit of a bummer.

Netflix has yet to state why the affected devices are being discontinued, but we will update this article if they provide official clarification.

Affected devices: Here's what's losing Netflix

We don't know which devices specifically no longer work, but we do have some information that can help.

Based on the reports we've seen so far, older devices are the only ones affected, and most are around 10 years old or older. So you don't need to worry about your new LG C2 OLED TV losing support, and any smart TV or streaming device you'll buy this Black Friday shouldn't be losing support for the Netflix app either.

The older devices we've seen reported to lose Netflix app support so far include:

- Sony TVs
- Panasonic TVs
- PlayStation Vita
- Toshiba Bluray players
- Samsung Blu-ray players
- Samsung TVs
- PlayStation TV
- Hitachi TVs

When in doubt, Netflix does have a page that lists devices with Netflix support, where you can check to see if your device is compatible with the streaming service's various apps.

There is one wrinkle – at the time of this writing, the Vita is listed as a compatible device. However, we have seen reports on Reddit that the Vita is losing Netflix, seemingly confirming What's on Netflix's reporting. Unfortunately, my Vita has decided to stop cooperating with me for now, so I've been unable to confirm if Netflix works on my Vita or not.

Easy Netflix Fix: Get a Cheap Streaming Device

The good news is that you don't need to throw away your TV or Bluray player just yet if you still want to watch Netflix. Most of our best streaming devices cost less than $50 and will let you stream Netflix, including our top choice – the Roku Streaming Stick 4K.

If you don't have a 4K TV, you can get Netflix onto your TV for even less. The Chromecast with Google TV HD is a great way to turn your TV into a smart TV and costs just under $30.

In short, thanks to streaming dongles and devices, you can easily get access to Netflix back with a relatively cheap fix. While not quite as convenient as your old smart device was, it's definitely cheaper than replacing your beloved TV or Blu-ray player.

MILITARY TRIVIA

A. The use of "Light Signaling" became very popular between ships at sea, since those light flashes (Morse Code back then) must be seen to be intercepted. A German researcher began studying high speed LED light flashes for carrying information in 2011 and in 2017 the US Navy tested it at Norfolk, VA between flashing lights & a camera/computer setup. (FLTC) Currently they have acquired speeds up to 1200 characters/minute at 12 miles and it is being considered for use in all surface warfare vessels, since the enemy must "see it" to intercept it.

SUPPORTING DIGITAL EQUITY (DE)

Supporting the development or employment of better Internet in a community goes hand in hand with Digital Equity (DE) and is one of its key elements. The Blue Hill Peninsula area group referenced as The PUB has a new domain name - www.pubfiber.org. Our Mission Statement (since forming in 2018) states: “The Peninsula Utility for Broadband (PUB) advocates for fast, flexible, affordable and reliable internet to incentivize business, support schools, advance the quality of healthcare, connect homes and facilitate long term education and socialization of our rural communities.”

Fidium Fiber became a reality for everyone who wants it in our area in March 2023, and our efforts will continue to ensure everyone knows just that, and why getting fiber makes sense over any other Internet service medium (Cable, Satellite, DSL, Hotspot...). Because of the Fidium Fiber price structure, it's also critically important to improve the awareness and use of the Affordable Connectivity Program (ACP), raise the awareness of technology (i.e., Internet use and tools) through training opportunities, and the general benefits that access to the Internet brings for Education, Health Care, Connectivity with others and the other valuable benefits (i.e., Streaming and Phone) which are money saving and effective tools for everyone with good Internet access. Fiber is the gold standard and is used by every service – from satellites to cell phones. Fidium Fiber is the provider that brings it to your house! Not sure if you want to use it, you can try it for a month for free. For those that qualify, use your ACP benefit with any participating provider (your choice).

Do you have Fidium Fiber to your home? Do it! Can't afford the monthly access, or is there some other reason? Fiber based Internet access is symmetrical, futureproof, and available with no installation cost, and for those qualified, you can afford the monthly access because it's also free! Consider that if someone is on SNAP, Medicaid, or other benefit program - you can be qualified for the program. More than that (as an example) if you are a family of four making under $60,000 you can qualify for a $30/mo. discount at any service level but at the $30/mo. for 50/50Mbps, it's free with the ACP discount. We want to keep the ACP program going and have you qualify - we can help. It really does matter, and we want you to use it, so we don't lose those funds! Remember too that no Internet Service Provider (ISP) can prequalify you and it is your family not your address that gets qualified.

Moving forward in Maine, we know that reaching out to food pantries, churches, and schools is vital in presenting a common well thought out voice, using tools such as those the Maine Connectivity Authority (MCA) has developed, and the resources the Maine based National Digital Equity Center (NDEC) provides to help educate - often for free. Reaching out to Veterans groups (local/state and national) and other national and local organizations with local ties and related interests will be happening on a larger scale in the entire state and specifically here.

Where do you go with questions and answers? The PUB site www.pubfiber.org can enable a local connection or a link to a resource for help and may provide answers to questions already addressed on the site. The Fidium Fiber website provides many more answers and proactively addresses many questions you may have on their fiber service at www.fidiumfiber.com. Calling, emailing, or texting local resources can address many more – or point you in the right direction.
